

Application for Recognition of Overseas Coaching Qualification for an Advanced Licence

Please read FFA's policy on Recognition of Overseas Coaching Qualifications below.

- FFA only recognises Asian Football Confederation (AFC) and Union of European Football Associations (UEFA) accreditation for conversion to FFA Advanced Accreditation
- Certificates which do not have AFC or UEFA on them will not be converted.
- Certificates should be translated to English
- Certificates must be current, (ie, date on certificate must be less than four years prior to date of FFA receiving application) If there is no date on the certificate, a letter must be provided from the Federation who conducted the course, confirming your expiry date
- You must be residing in Australia
- If your application is successful you will be given four years accreditation and you will receive a letter in the post confirming your FFA accreditation
- You will not receive a Coach ID Card or Certificate. These are only distributed to coaches who attend and pass FFA Courses.
- To apply for re-accreditation after the four year period you should follow the FFA Advanced Course Re-Accreditation Policy and if successful you will receive another letter confirming your new expiry date
